An Alert Eye From United States Being Kept On The Orient

Japanese In Threat To Close Road By Bombs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—At a press conference filled with questions about the tense Far Eastern situation, Secretary Knox said today that the United States fleet, now on duty in the Pacific would be brought up to full strength immediately by the addition of about 4,200 men.

The additions, the navy department chief reported, will raise crews of the warships from 85 per cent to 100 per cent of their theoretical strength.

Announcing the step as one of several measures to reinforce naval strength without delay, Knox said also that the navy was "pressing" for the acquisition of 31 additional auxiliary ships for the fleet's train.

He was asked whether he concurred in a prediction that the administration feared war with Japan in 15 days and promptly replied "no."

"I don't think anybody knows," he added.

He said he expected to confer again this week with Admiral James O. Richardson, fleet commander in chief, who came here from Hawaii for talks on the troubled Far East with President Roosevelt and Knox, both of whom he saw initially yesterday.

Situation Acute

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—(AP)—The United States watched the Far East attentively today, and at the same time kept an alert eye on the progress of the furious air war over Europe as a critical factor in the present world struggle for power.

The state department, it was understood, was reckoning with the possibility that an emergency affecting this country might occur in the Orient. Not wholly in the background, however, some officials said, was the question of additional aid to embattled Britain.

The reactions of Japan to events of the last 24 hours were variously interpreted, particularly since the events included Britain's announcement that the Burma road to China would be reopened for supplies, the ban on the further flow of subsidized American wheat to Far Eastern ports, and the precautionary steps to get American nationals out of potential trouble zones in the Orient.

Some officials here interpreted the tenor of Japanese reactions to indicate the possibility that any major Far Eastern thrust under the aegis of the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo alliance might be held in abeyance at least for the time being.

They based their interpretations on the fact that Japanese newspapers minimized the importance

Checks To Aged By Week End

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Missouri's 104,370 aged pensioners will get their overdue October checks by week's end—but the outcome of the merit system controversy which delayed the payments still remained in doubt today.

The state's October allotment was released late yesterday by the federal board and State Administrator George I. Haworth said the pension checks will be put in the mails as soon as the money arrives—probably Friday.

But the national board said it was withholding the rest of the federal grant for the last quarter of the year until all questions over the merit system had been settled.

No one here seemed to know what questions remained, however.

Attorney General Roy McKittrick—who raised the original challenge of the state commission's authority to put its 1,500 employes under merit ratings—indicated Monday he would not stand in the way.

It was after talking with McKittrick that Ed McDonald, regional social security director, made his recommendation to Washington that Missouri's pent-up allotment be made.

It was understood McKittrick would not render the formal opinion on the merit plan's legality which the merit council had requested, thus leaving no legal objections on the record to snarl the program.

Grants Are Approved

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Ed McDonald, regional director of the Social Security Board, has approved October grants to Missouri of $782,003 for old age assistance and $156,763 for aid to dependent children.

Churchill To Head Party

LONDON, Oct. 9—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill today was elected unanimously leader of the Conservative party, succeeding Neville Chamberlain.

His election as head of his party as well as of the government had been considered certain since Chamberlain last week stepped out of the cabinet and relinquished his party post.

Directors Of C. Of C. To Head Bureaus

15 Divisions Are Established For Facilitating Work

For the first time the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce has been organized into departments and bureaus, with directors of the organization heading the various divisions. Committee chosen from the membership will work under them in carrying out the work of the C. of C.

Announcement of the appointment was made Tuesday at the noon luncheon meeting of the chamber's board of directors, at the Bothwell hotel. George H. Trader, president, presided.

Division heads will be J. E. Mater, special activities; T. W. Cloney II, roads and highways; Louis Satorius, membership; Don Lamm, agriculture; Charles O. Botz, industrial development; Joe Rosenthal, retail merchants; I. H. Reed, finance; H. C. Davis, conventions and tourists; Paul Hedderich, aviation; George H. Scruton publicity; Guy Callender, solicitation, charities and community drive; Philip McLaughlin, public relations; J. C. Campbell, safety council; Charles Van Dyne, athletic activities; Edward P. Mullaley, Missouri State Fair.

Because of the executive duties entailed in their offices, the officers of the board of directors will not head any special divisions. William R. Courtney is vice president and Henry Harris is treasurer. However the second vice president, J. E. Mater, was asked to head a division.

A feature of the annual Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting to be held at 6:30 o'clock next Monday night will be a round table discussion to furnish an opportunity for opinions of what are the most important projects that should be stressed for the coming months, Ellsworth Green, executive secretary, announced last night.

The public is invited to this meeting.

A number of firms have expressed a desire to give favors, and members may do so by making arrangements at the Chamber office.

Excess Profits Bill Into Law By Signing

Is Designed To Set Up Barrier On Profiteering

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Broad tax legislation using an excess profits levy as a barrier against profiteering on military contracts and intended at the same time to encourage defense enterprises has been signed into law by President Roosevelt.

The new law, signed at 11 p. m. Eastern Standard Time last night, carries an excess profits tax of from 25 to 50 per cent and raises the corporation income tax from 20.9 to 24 per cent, the new rates being appliable on 1940 income and thereafter.

The White House announced the signing today.

As a means of activating the defense program, the law permits manufacturers and others to amortize, or to deduct from their taxable income, their entire cost of facilities completed for defense purposes after June 10, 1940. The deductions would be made at the rate of 20 per cent a year for five years.

It also suspends, during such period as the excess profits tax is levied, present 8 and 7 per cent limits on profits from warships and military aircraft.

The excess profit tax, designed to retard the creation of "war millionaires," is the first of its type enacted since the years immediately following 1917-18.

The nation's 400,000 smallest corporations will not have to pay it since the law exempts the first $5,000 of every corporation's profits. Small corporations also will not be affected by the income tax increase because congress in writing the measure left untouched the special lower rates on corporations with net income of less than $25,000.

Also set up by the law is a government insurance system for members of the present-day military and naval establishments, including draftees and National Guardsmen called to active duty, permitting them to obtain low cost policies up to a face value of $10,000.

Pinchot Gives Support To FDR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Gifford Pinchot, former Republican governor of Pennsylvania, said today he would campaign for President Roosevelt's re-election because, he said, "this is no time to put a green hand in charge of the ship."

Pinchot made his announcement at the White House after a visit with Mr. Roosevelt. He handed reporters a typewritten statement which said:

"I came to tell the President that I am for him. He has the training and experience. Without it no man is competent to bring us safely through this growing storm.

"This is no time to put a green hand in charge of the ship. Roosevelt represents our best chance for security and peace.

"I am a Republican, but I am an American first. After full consideration I am doing what I believe is best for the United States."

Brilliant Pageantry To Open The Episcopal Convention

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Brilliant pageantry of the Call to Worship opened the Episcopal church's 53rd triennial general convention today but it overshadowed only temporarily the problems to be faced because of wars in Europe and the Orient.

Delegates' eyes were focused on a processional of 1,250 vested choristers, laymen and clergy, led by crucifers and flag bearers, marching to the great chancel erected in Municipal Auditorium.

But delegates' minds dwelled on the words of Bishop Shirley H. Nichols of Kyoto, Japan, who told the church's national council last night:

"The American Christian church will suffer its greatest blow in 100 years of missionary work in the Orient on October 17, when the new Japanese religious bodies' act becomes effective."

Or upon the words of the Most Rev. Derwyn T. Owen of Toronto, primate of the Church of England in Canada, who told interviewers:

"The (British) empire's war against the forces of totalitarianism is a struggle to preserve the principles on which our democratic and Christian civilization is founded."

Offering To English Church

Or upon the plea of the Archbishop of Canterbury that the American church take over some of the English church's mission work in the West Indies, Canada, Japan and China. Foreign missions of the war-burdened Church of England will be given the offering from today's service. Suggestion to appropriate $117,000 annually for this work will be made to the convention.

Bishop Nichols said the new Japanese measure will place all hospitals and schools maintained by American churches under rigid jurisdiction of the Tokyo government. He predicted the law soon would be applied to church activities in Japanese occupied areas of China.

He said Japanese officials have a list of all American and European missionaries and that those regarded as "questionable" because of anti-totalitarian sympathies probably would be ordered to leave Japan.

Bishop W. Payne Roberts of Shanghai agreed with Bishop Nichols' report and added:

"Control of American missionary efforts in China by the Japanese will be the end of most of

Talks Before GOP Women

A large number of both men and women attended the regular monthly meeting of the Pettis County Republican Women's club Tuesday afternoon in the assembly room of the court house. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Hazel Palmer, after which the audience united in giving the pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States. Mrs. Stuart King, past president of the local club, gave a brief but forceful talk on "What is the Trend of the Third Term?" concluding by reading a poem of her own composition.

At the conclusion of the meeting a number of new members were taken into the club.

No Appeasing The Dictators

Willkie Pledge To Let People Say If They Want War

By Theodore F. Koop

ENROUTE WITH WILLKIE THROUGH CONNECTICUT, Oct. 9—(AP)—Boisterous crowds which frequently broke through police lines greeted Wendell L. Willkie in Connecticut today and slowed up the motor caravan taking him on a four-day campaign tour of New England.

At Stamford and Norwalk, the Republican presidential nominee, standing in his car to speak briefly, found himself in the center of pushing, shoving throngs. There was so much disturbance at Stamford that he had to pause until police could restore quiet.

Willkie said that he did not have time to discuss campaign issues in detail, but asked his hearers to keep their minds open and study both his arguments and those of President Roosevelt, his opponent.

After leaving his special train at Stamford, the candidate and his party drove eastward through towns along Long Island Sound. Governor Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut, an early supporter of Willkie for the presidential nomination, rode with the Republican standard bearer and Mrs. Willkie.

When the caravan, under a state police escort, reached the Bridgeport city limits, Jasper McLevy, Socialist mayor of the industrial city, entered Willkie's car after shaking hands with the candidate.

Employes of several Bridgeport factories stood in the street or stuck their heads through windows to see him. Willkie stopped in front of the Bullard company plant to acknowledge a greeting from a crowd of workmen.

"You fellows look like a pretty good bunch to me," he told them. "I'm not interested at this par-

Assails Willkie Activities In Power Interests

Wesner Praised By Ike Skelton At Democratic Rally

"A concrete example of the lack of responsibility in the Republican party is the fact that practically everything that the Republican presidential nominee says he is for the Republican vice-presidential nominee says he is against," Ike Skelton, Lexington attorney, said here Tuesday night.

Mr. Skelton, speaking at a meeting of the Young Democratic club of Pettis county, which was held in the assembly room of the court house in the form of an old fashioned Democratic Rally, declared that "we know that the Republican presidential nominee rose to power because he was a utility lawyer and was fighting the American power consumer in behalf of the utility interests of the country".

Doesn't Mention Name

In his prepared speech, Skelton did not mention Wendell Willkie's name, but referred to him as the Republican nominee.

"The one hope that we have to keep this country out of war and to keep our American democracy alive, Skelton said, is to stand united against the tyrrany and cruelty of Hitler Mussolini and Stalin. We can only do this by adequately preparing ourselves", he added.

Skelton spoke briefly on the local candidates, telling the audience they should stand firmly behind their party candidates chosen by the Democratic family at the primary election.

Praise Fred Wesner

"I wish to touch briefly on a very good friend of mine running for State Senator from this district, Fred F. Wesner. During the primary I had the privilege of speaking in counties in this district and at these meetings I heard Mr. Wesner deliver his message to the voters. Mr. Wesner is a fine man, he is a good lawyer, sincere, and very able. He is a Democrat and will make the people of not only Pettis County but the people of the counties in this district an outstanding state senator.

"His record as a public servant speaks for itself. He has served well as city counselor and as chairman of the City Democratic committee. He is a true American; Fred served twenty-two years ago in the United States Army during the World War,, the same as I, and I know he is a true patriot," Skelton said.

We should, and will re-elect Senator Harry S. Truman to the United States senate; his record shows him a true Democrat and a supporter of President Roosevelt," the speaker declared.

Tribute To McDaniel

"Lawrence McDaniel is one of the great Democratic leaders of the state. He has voted for the principals of democracy in Republican St. Louis when it was unpopular to be a Democrat there. He is a lawyer of outstanding ability who was, in 1935 voted the outstanding citizen of St. Louis."

In closing Mr. Skelton said, "Keep Willkie in the Powerhouse, and Roosevelt in the White House."

A large crowd attended the rally, which was presided over by Ernest C. Martin, president of the Pettis County Democratic club. Several local candidates were introduced.

The Pettis County Democratic committee held a country-wide meeting at Lookout School at 8 o'clock last night. Representative E. W. Couey was the principal speaker. Sam Harlan, county chairman, presided.

Air Raid Siege On London Continues With Great Fury

Three Wings Of Hospital Hit Tuesday Night

LONDON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Nazi night fliers opened up their after-dark assaults on ematlled London on schedule tonight, flying in scattered relays against the capital's defenses.

One of the night raiders was reported brought down on the outskirts of the city with a full load of bombs.

The plane apparently was caught in the anti-aircraft barrage, which flecked the sky with flashes like exploding stars. First the outer ring of guns began a chorus like a distant thunderstorm. The volume swelled as the raiders drew closer.

LONDON, Oct. 9—(AP)—Flying in loose formation to outsmart the city's growing anti-aircraft defense, as many as a dozen Nazi planes were counted over London at one time this afternoon in the continuing siege of the city.

The planes looked like miniature white crosses against the blue sky, with the puffs of the anti-aircraft fire dotting their trail. No sound of bombs could be heard above the firing of the ground guns.

After a particularly heavy burst of the "archies" one plane, flying lower than the others, turned off and made toward the coast—possibly damaged.

This afternoon sun had cleared away the clouds that hid raiders in their first daylight followup to overnight assaults in which heavy bombs smashed an air raid shelter and three wings of a hospital housing 108 patients.

None in the hospital were believed to have escaped either death or injury. Eight persons were killed in the shelter and an undetermined number injured.

During a raid this afternoon a bomb crashed on the center of another hospital in the London area where all the patients were victims of previous air raids. There was no casualties.

Raider Is Shattered

Later in the afternoon a few bombs were heard in London while over one section of the capital a German raider, caught in the full blast of anti-aircraft fire, was blown to pieces.

A large formation of attackers crossed the southeast coast, seemingly enroute to London, but they were interrupted a short way inland by British fighters.

In raids that seemed aimed directly at the coast, two of three raiders striking at one southern town, were shot down, while three German fighting planes dived on Dover harbor in the southeast, and shot down a barrage balloon.

In the unidentified south coast town, residents said the Gerfan

Lure To United States To Keep Out Of War

'Liberal Hearted' Il Duce Offers British Territory

ROME, Oct. 9—(AP)—Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo d'Italia said today that "new heavy blows" against Britain with the intervention of fresh forces were imminent and offered British territory in the western hemisphere to the United States if she remained out of the war.

The newspaper's military commentator, Mario Appelius, said the United States must choose among three decisions:

1. "To remain neutral until the destruction of the British empire has been effected and to take its place among its natural heirs with Canada, Newfoundland, the Bahamas, Bermuda and Jamaica as its expectations."

2. To continue to aid England without intervening in the war and find herself in an "inferior diplomatic condition" when the British empire is split up at a peace conference, as well as in future trade agreements.

3. To enter the war "knowing she is not militarily ready and meet all the consequences of defeat."

The final course, Appelius said, would be "suicide."

If the United States remains neutral, the commentator went on

Bill Passed For 'Home Guards'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The senate passed today legislation authorizing organization of "home guards" within states whose National Guard units have been called into federal service. The measure now goes back to the house for action on senate amendments.

The senate action advanced further that chamber's arrangements for beginning a series of three-day recesses on Thursday, to last until November 18. In the house, however, Democratic leaders abandoned, temporarily at least, plans to recess or adjourn, Speaker Rayburn saying they were actuated by "reasons sufficient to us."

The chief senate change in the home guards measure as previously passed by the house was a provision giving the secretary of war control over the proposed new military units. Senators said this would meet a complaint by organized labor that the house bill would have made possible formation of "vigilante" groups to suppress unions.

The legislation would amend a section of the 1916 National Defense Act which limited "state troops" to the National Guard. With many guardsmen called into federal service for a year of peacetime training, governors of a number of states had asked congress to authorize substitute military units within the states.

Wait For the 'Big Stick'

This is the dangerous era. This is the period when Americans find the temptation to "talk back" to the dictators almost irresistible. During these days, the government and private but influential citizens must be more careful than ever about what they say.

When Norway, Belgium, Holland, Luxemburg and finally France fell to the Axis, Americans were plumb scared to death. They still said nasty things about Adolf and Benito, but sometimes they trembled a little and made the cracks behind the palms of their hands. They realized that with a paltry, badly equipped army and a general defense system of almost no effectiveness, it wasn't smart to make too many threats.

So Congress got busy—feverishly busy. Funds were appropriated in sums unparalleled in the country's financial history. Bills to increase the size and strength of the navy, to provide for war equipment and to draft a large army were passed. Almost overnight, the country became defense-conscious and tackled the grim task with a vengeance.

What was done is all very well. It was the only thing Congress could have done, under the circumstances. But remember this: With negligible exceptions, the defense system that exists today is precisely the same we had when France fell.

The United States is not prepared for war. Ships can be built on paper within a few weeks—even days—but it takes months and years to get them in the water. Equipment can be ordered with a stroke of the pen, but it requires years to build it. An army can be mustered by an act of Congress, but it takes 12 long months to provid even the basic training.

We have provided for defense; we have not yet accomplished it. We have started the ball rolling, but it has only started.

It is too early to take too much encouragement from Britain's unexpectedly gallant stand against Nazi invasion. This is no time to be shouting bawdy insults across either the Atlantic or Pacific ocean.

It is one thing to take a firm stand on matters of world policy and domestic security. It is another to invite, through gratuitous utterances, trouble we can't meet at equal terms.

Evolution of hatreds toward any other peoples is not necessary to our defense. All we need to do is insist that we be allowed to mind our own business—and keep arming, just in case.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — The Dies investigating committee now has documentary evidence of Nazi fifth column operations in the U. S. so explosive that its publication might lead to a complete rupture of diplomatic relations with Germany.

Because of this likelihood of international complications the committee has been nervously sitting on the load of dynamite, uncertain what to do. It has consulted the State Department, which is just as jittery itself.

In fact, even more so. The department foresees the inevitable necessity of demanding the recall of a number of German diplomatic representatives, with certain retaliation by Berlin by the ousting of U. S. officials. In the present delicate state of U. S.-Axis relations, the department doesn't want to run that risk.

So on its urgent advice, the committee is sitting tight and continuing its secret probe of the subversive activities. The documentary evidence in the possession of the committee is staggering. It definitely establishes:

1. That the Nazi government is directly supervising and financing a nationwide fifth column campaign to oppose and obstruct the defense program, the U. S. government's foreign policy and aid to Great Britain.

2. That this activity is being carried on through German consulates and German-controlled papers, plus propaganda agencies of various kinds.

3. That Nazi consuls get detailed instructions from Berlin through regular short-wave broadcasts in code.

Column Fuehrer

Suspected master mind of the Nazi fifth column is Dr. Manfreid Zapp, head of the Trans-Ocean News Service, a propaganda outfit with offices in New York and Washington. Zapp came to this country after being booted out of South Africa by the British government.

Trans-Ocean records seized by the committee show that Zapp is being financed by Berlin. He has received a number of bank drafts, among them one for $30,000 directly from the Bank of Berlin, and also considerable sums from the Bank of Mexico, which have been traced to German sources. Copies of letters written and received by Zapp, in the possession of the committee, end with the salutation "Heil Hitler."

Similar evidence involves the German Railroads Information office, a professed tourist agency at 11 West 57th street, N. Y.

Hot Consuls

Two of the consuls implicated in the evidence the committee has turned over to the State Department are Captain Fritz Wiedemann, at San Francisco, and Herbert Scholz, at Boston. Letters show both Nazis up to their armpits in fifth column enterprises.

Wiedemann, Hitler's World War captain, is recognized in diplomatic circles as his personal representative in this country. Situated on the west coast, his role now is especially important as a result of the Axis-Jap alliance. Scholz is credited with being the guiding hand behind the American Fellowship Forum.

He has been closely associated with Friedrich Ernst Auhaugen, Nazi lecturer and president of the Forum, who was seized in Los Angeles recently as he was attempting to board a ship for Japan. The committee is holding Auhaugen as a key witness.

Other evidence in its possession discloses the existence of a secret fascist army in the U. S. running into the thousands. Chief organizers of this force have been the German-American Bund, the Ku Klux Klan, Italian-American clubs and German veteran societies.

Linked up with all these operations is the German Library of Information, official Nazi propaganda agency in New York. A raid by committee agents produced a mailing list of over 70,000 names, banks and business concerns in the New York area alone.

On The Battlefront

REPS: Wendell Willkie's zealous wooing of Senator Hiram Johnson was not in vain. The Californian has privately decided to endorse him and will make a public declaration shortly.

A militant isolationist and long a foe of Britain, Johnson generally disapproves of Willkie's foreign views. But Johnson hates Roosevelt more than he dislikes Willkie's international ideas, so the latter will get his very considerable political blessing.

Much of the credit for this is due Senator Charles McNary. Johnson has long had a warm attachment for the astute Oregonian and McNary had no trouble persuading him to come out for Willkie, particularly after he counselled Johnson to say nothing until the expiration of the final date for an independent to file against Johnson.

Johnson still is undecided whether he will return to California for an active campaign. Not in the best of health, the chances are that he won't but instead will make several speeches by radio.

DEMS: Senator David Walsh of Massachusetts is in a pickle. Up for election, he has Jim Farley's promise to make a speech for him. But Jim has let it be known that while he will speak for Walsh, he intends to say nothing in the talk about FDR. Publicly, Jim hasn't bolted, but he is as strongly anti-third term as ever.

Mayor LaGuardia, head of the Independent Voters committee for Roosevelt and long thumbs down on Farley, has taken up his ultimatum. "The Little Flower" has sent word to Walsh that if Farley doesn't endorse FDR in the speech, then he (LaGuardia) will come to Boston and make a speech for Roosevelt and not mention Walsh.

Walsh, caught in the middle, is wringing his hands. But the New Dealers are unmoved. They are saying to him, "You got Farley to agree to go to Boston; now you handle him. This is your baby. You fix it—or else."

Drat Such Pests—

A scamp by definition is a worthless fellow; a knave; a swindler; a mean villian; a rogue. A good friend of mine received an anonymous letter of criticism the only effect of which was to enliven a humorous interest in speculation over its authorship. If a persons believes in himself and his opinions why does he have to play the role of a coward and slink behind the covering of anonimity? A troubled conscience is an exacting penalty to pay for authorship of unsigned messages. Anonymous letter writers are no more than scamps.

Nobility of Work—

J. C. Penny, a Christian gentlemen who succeeded in business, told Sedalians the other night that he "learned the nobility of work" at 8 years of age. His Baptist preacher-father and mother taught him. He also at an early age learned obedience and respect. Thus fortified he faced life courageously. But doesn't that expression, "the nobility of work," have a genuine ring? Work rises above drudgery and becomes something desireus. Too often fathers and mothers are tempted to shield their offspring from the "drudgery" of work, actually plan their youngsters' careers by instilling in their immature minds a distaste and repugnance toward work. When this goes on with increasing persistance for a few generations, we develop a race of softies. Men and women then become subservient; too docile to really care for themselves, their families or their country. It is then that they become puppets to be played with by demagogues. God grant that with the influence of men like J. C. Penney we may recapture an appreciation of the dynamic influence of "the nobility of work" and escape the deadening lethargy into which we are being coddled by unscrupulous humanitarians.

The Virtues Of Work—

Albeit it may be irksome for some to reflect on the philosophy and practicalities of horse and buggy days, how refreshing to recall the 100 year old words of Novelist Charles Kingsley:

"Thank God every morning when you get up that you have something to do that day which must be done whether you like it or not.. Being forced to work and forced to do your best, will breed in you temperance and self-control, diligence and strength of will, cheerfulness and content, and a hundred virtues which the idle will never know."

Pull the Trigger on Lazy Bowels

with herb laxative, combined with syrup pepsin to make it agreeable and easy to take

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste and bad breath, your stomach is probably "crying the blues" because your bowels don't move. It calls for Laxative Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels, combined with good old Syrup Pepsin to make your laxative more agreeable and easier to take. For years many Doctors have used pepsin compounds, as agreeable carriers to make other medicines more palatable when your "taster" feels easily upset. So be sure your laxative contains Syrup Pepsin. Insist on Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna, combined with Syrup Pepsin. See how wonderfully its herb Laxative Senna wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your intestines, to bring welcome relief from constipation. And see how its Syrup Pepsin makes Dr. Caldwell's medicine so smooth and agreeable to a touchy gullet. Even finicky children love the taste of this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna at your druggist's today. Try one laxative that won't bring on violent distaste, even when you take it after a full meal.

FOOD MARKET Advice-

If meat prices have been causing a flurry in your table budget lately it will be good news that both lamb and the hind quarter cuts of beef are lower this week. Pork loins and chops are also somewhat lower. Fowls are most attractively priced as are broilers and fryers and although the price of turkeys has advanced a little, they are still a good buy.

With the Elberta peach crop 12 per cent above normal, the chain stores have answered an appeal of orchardists and are putting their system of mass merchandising and distribution behind the crop. Therefore, this most delicious of fruits should be given a preferred place on the menu this week. Other particularly low priced fruits are apples, Tokay grapes, honeydew melons, small oranges, pears and fresh prunes.

Cool weather is keeping a good supply of excellently flavored vegetables coming into market, among those deserving special attention being beans, nearby broccoli, both red and white cabbage, peppers, potatoes, squash, tomatoes and rutabaga turnips. Those delicious little egg tomatoes, which make such excellent salads, are also available. The new crop of mushrooms is begining to appear on market.

Florida Mackerel In

Housekeepers who know their seafoods will be delighted to hear that Florida or Spanish mackerel is now appearing on market as well as salmon trout. The New York market reports that sea bass should be available in good quantities and at moderate prices and butterfish, although somewhat higher, can still be considered reasonable. Flounders are also expected in good quantities.

From Boston come reports that haddock and scrod will be good buys for fish this week, substantial quantities of northern mackerel will be in market at low prices and there are ample supplies of frozen swordfish although the fresh swordfish season is about over.

Egg Quality Fine

Eggs are of a most excellent quality now and the price is fractionally lower this week. To build up the family's energy against approaching cold weather it is wise at this season of the year to use eggs frequently on the breakfast menus as well as to make plentiful use of them in desserts.

The following menu for Sunday dinner is based on items featured by the largest of the chain stores this week:

Honeydew Melon
Lamb Loin Chops
Spanish Rice with Fresh Tomatoes
Wax Beans
Hot Muffins
Fresh Pear Fritters with Lemon Sauce
Tea or Coffee

Chopped Steak Cutlets

One tablespoon chopped onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 packages (1 pound) quick-frozen chopped steak, thawed, 1-2 teaspoon salt, dash of pepper, 1-2 cup fine fresh bread crumbs, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1-4 cup milk.

Saute onion in butter; add to chopped steak. Add salt, pepper, crumbs, egg, and milk, and mix well. Shape into 6 cutlets. Broil in hot skillet 10 minutes, turning carefully to brown both sides. Serve at once on cutlet-shaped pieces of toast, if desired. Garnish with parsley.

Peach Mousse

One box (16 oz.) quick-frozen sliced peaches, thawed; 1-3 cup sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 2 drops almond extract, 1 cup cream, whipped.

Crush peaches until thoroughly mashed, or force through coarse sieve. Add sugar, salt, and almond extract to peach pulp; fold into whipped cream. Turn into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and let stand 2 1-2 to 3 hours, or until firm. Or turn into mold, cover with waxed paper, press cover tightly down over paper, and pack in equal parts ice and salt; let stand 2 1-2 to 3 hours. Makes 3-4 quart mousse.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

As a rising wholesale market has forced the prices of almost all meats up, poultry is one of the best selections for the main course and there are such a variety of ways to prepare poultry that one could also repeat during the week. Fresh hams are still one of the best meat buys and beef chucks are a good value.

The market is filled with a variety of garden and orchard produce so that, where the family budget will not stretch to the higher priced meats, fruits and vegetables can be used to advantage. In addition to Northwestern Greenings other varieties of apples are in market this week. Those delicious Isle of Pines grapefruit are coming in and are excellent for salads, fruit cocktails and desserts. Fresh prunes are plentiful and lend themselves to a variety of recipes.

Beets, both green and lima beans, cabbage, corn, celery, onions and squash are all very plentiful and low priced this week. There are any number of vegetable combinations which are delicious cooked together and almost every lunch or dinner should be graced by a vegetable salad for health as well as appetite appeal.

Among the best buys of the week in fish are mackerel, flounders, yellow tails, weakfish, whiting, sea scallops and sea bass. There are ample supplies of salmon coming into the market; medium sized shrimp are reasonably priced, as are hard and soft shell clams.

Suggested for Sunday dinner are the three menus which Miss Cora Anthony, of the A & P kitchens, has arranged:

Low Cost Dinner
Stewed Chicken with Dumplings
Baked Potatoes — Sauted Fresh Corn
Dutch Apple Cake
Bread and Butter — Tea or Coffee

Medium Cost Dinner
Southern Fried Chicken
Baked Sweet Potatoes and Apples
String Beans — Watermelon
Hot Biscuit — Tea or Coffee

Very Special Dinner

Roast Leg of Lamb
Baked Stuffed Potatoes

of the Burma road reopening, intimating that it could be bombed from recently-obtained Japanese airdromes in French Indo-China. They also noted the statement of a foreign office spokesman that Japan did not intend to call her nationals home from the United States.

Pressure To Japan

These interpretations, however, were advanced with reservations, inasmuch as authoritative Tokyo quarters viewed the decision to reopen the Burma road as a new instance of Anglo-American cooperation in applying pressure to Japan.

The British government's belief that "there might be a crisis in the Far East" because of the Burma road reopening was the reason officially assigned her why Lord Lothian, British ambassdor, was told to cancel plans for a trip to London and stay in Washington.

Some informed officials believed, however, that the decision to keep him here may also involve the subject of increased American aid to Great Britain to meet a possible intensification of the war on various fronts. State department sources were mum on this point.

Nevertheless, the attention with which the administration is giving to the uncertain state of affairs in the Orient was underlined yesterday by the extended White House conference between President Roosevelt and his two top naval advisors, Admiral William D. Leahy, former chief of naval operations, and Admiral J. C. Richardson, commander-in-chief of the fleet in the Pacific who arrived here yesterday to report on the situation in that theatre.

Richardson said afterwards that "the readiness of the fleet" for any emergency had been discussed, and he disclosed that he would take back several thousand men with him to the present fleet base at Hawaii to reinforce the personnel of warships there.

Threat Of Bombs

TOKYO, Oct. 9—(AP)—Japan will close the Burma road with bombs if Britain persists in her determination to re-open this "backdoor" route linking China with vital sources of war materials, the Tokyo press intimiated today.

Declaring the recent acquisition of airplane bases in French Indo-China has given Japan a tremendous strategical advantage against China, newspapers asserted the Japanese now are ready for direct action.

Further words are unnecessary, the prominent paper Nichi Nichi said, because Japan already has explained to third powers her determination to eliminate the supply routes of Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

"Japan need no longer conduct any diplomatic negotiations with Britain," said this commentary. "The effect of stationing Japanese forces in Indo-China should now be displayed."

Yomiuri commented in the same vein.

The Burma road, built after Japan had succeeded in seizing most of China's seaboard, follows a tortuous 2,000-mile route from Chungking, provisional Chinese capital, to Rangoon in British Burma, which has a common frontier with Indo-China.

Japan's acquisition of Indo-China bases therefore has shortened by some 300 or 400 miles the distance which her bombers would be compelled to fly in an attempt to cut the road.

Look For Loans

Some sections of the Tokyo press expressed belief the scheduled reopening of the Burma road Oct. 7, was only the prelude to more extensive British-United States assistance to China in the form of loans. The road was closed July 1 by an agreement effective for three months.

Yakichiro Suma foreign office spokesman, declined comment on the Bura road situation. He said, however, that a previous British agreement to suspend shipments to China via Hongkong was expected to continue, inasmuch as no time limit had accompanied that agreement.

Suma expressed surprise at the action of the United States in advising its nationals in Japan to return home as soon as possible.

"We can't understand the necessity of it," he said. Japan has no intention of advising her citizens to quit the United States, he added.

(In Shanghai the stock market fell sharply in reaction to news of the United States' action.)

Yomiuri, commenting on Japanese-United States relations, expressed belief they were "more likely to grow worse" in view of the Burma road re-opening, which was taken here as a new instance of British-American cooperation in applying pressure on Japan.

The paper expressed doubt, however, that the United States "is ready to stake her national fortunes for the sake of China."

"Surely they must know," Yomiuri said, "that the more they (America and Britain) interfere with Japan's efforts to settle the China affair the more Britain must suffer directly. . . . It appears that the United States is being forced to re-consider her policy of intimidating Japan but it would be difficult for her to change now."

Predict Repercussions

HONGKONG, Oct. 9—(AP)—The Chinese press in Hongkong acclaimed today Britain's decision to re-open the Burma road to China as indicating "a clearer understanding of the Far Eastern situation" but predicted it would lead to serious Japanese repercussions.

Re-opening of the road, newspapers said, would prove advantageous, not only to China but to the whole "non-aggression front."

May Follow U. S. Example

LONDON, Oct. 9—(AP)—Authoritative circles indicated today the British government was considering following the example of the United States by advising British subjects to leave the Far East.

These circles said the warning would apply to all British who had no "urgent reasons" for remaining, and indicated it would apply to the same zone as a similar warning by the United States government to its citizens.

(The United States citizens were advised to leave much of the Orient, including Japan, Manchoukuo, Shanghai and French Indo-China.

British circles declared the reported Japanese troop landing at the North China sea island of Liu Kung was not a focal point of difference between Britain and Japan and should not be allowed to overshadow what was described as the basic cleavage brought out by Japan's alliance with Britain's axis enemies.

Uneasiness Evident

SHANGHAI, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Foreign obsevers expressed anxiety today lest Japanese army leaders in China vent their resentment at Britain's decision to re-open the Burma road by taking drastic action regardless of Tokyo's attitude.

Should Japanese militarists take the matter of retaliation into their hands, these observers said, serious developments might be expected at the British crown colony of Hongkong on Chinas' southeast coast.

Uneasiness over the general situation in the Orient sharpened by the United States' action in advising its nationals to return home, was reflected by the Shanghai stock market, where most shares dropped three to five points from yesterday's closing quotations with few buyers in sight.

Financial experts said the drop apparently was inspired by uncertainty over the immediate fate of foreign investments in the Far East, although the prospects for China's continued resistance against Japan appeared more favorable in the long run.

These views were echoed by the Chinese press, which predicted that if Japan should go to war with the United States she would immediately seize all undefended American interests in the Orient. The same commentaries voiced belief, however, that America's superior resources could eventually crush Japan and force her withdrawal from China.

May Put Ship In Troop Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—The unheralded arrival of 190 British seaman gave rise to waterfront reports today that the Queen Elizabeth, largest and fastest ship in the world, would soon leave for troop transport service between Australia and Egypt.

The 85,000-ton liner was tied up here last March 7 after a voyage through submarine and mine-infested waters.

Her sister ship, the Queen Mary, and the Mauretania left New York several months ago to serve as troop ships.

Plans To Further Army Expansion

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—informed congressional sources said today the war department plans to expand the regular army's enlisted strength to possibly 500,000 men by continuing to accept three-year enlistments after the draft begins.

Authority for the expansion, which would be 25 per cent above the present authorized limit of 400,000, is conferred by a provision in the final $1,482,693,363 defense appropriation which President Roosevelt signed yesterday.

Increase Of 43,142 On WPA Rolls

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The work projects administration today reported a 43,142 increase in numbers on work relief rolls betweent September 25 and October 2. The total now is 1,746,510.

Officials said this enrollment was 53,482 below the October quota of 1,800,000 and 87,674 less than the 1,834,192 enrolled at this time last year.

No Appeasing The Dictators

ticular moment in how you are going to vote. I am interested in seeing that as American citizens you listen to both sides of the argument.

For Social Security

"Every one of us has a great stake in this campaign. I want you to listen to everything I have to say and to everything the other side has to say.

"There is no man in America who believes more than I do in the social gains which labor has made. For instance, there is the social security program. You want to be sure that when you get old you are paid on your social security."

Reiterating that he favored the social security system, Willkie told his audience that the Roosevelt administration has spent two-fifths of all the money expended by the federal government since George Washington's day.

"Do you think that if we keep on spending," he asked, "there will be money to pay your social security in your old age?"

Either inflation or bankruptcy are inevitable, he contended, if present federal deficits continued. He said that he wanted to bring solvency to the government.

Discussing collective bargaining, Willkie asked, "does anyone have the notion that this gain will be preserved if the country goes into bankruptcy or into war?"

"All I ask you, boys, is not to be kidded," he concluded. "Don't allow them to hand you the bunk."

Another crowd estimated by police Sergeant John J. Carroll at 10,000 was gathered in front of the plant of Harvey Hubbell, Inc. Several carried signs saying, "We, the people want Willkie." One man standing near the candidate's car held a sign with the words, "Roosevelt for the poor, Willkie for the big shots."

At that stop, Willkie reviewed his criticism of New Deal spending and his views on social security and labor legislation, saying that the administration will have spent $71,000,000,000 "when it gets out of office."

Without sound federal finance, he declared, there is little point in building armaments.

BY THEODORE F. KOOP

ENROUTE WITH WILLKIE THROUGH CONNECTICUT, Oct. 9—(AP)—A refusal to "appease the dictators" and a pledge to let the people say whether they want war were coupled by Wendell L. Willkie before he started a combined train and auto campaign tour of New England today.

In a series of New York City talks last night, the Republican presidential nominee called for a strong national defense but advised against "shouting insults at the dictators or anyone else."

"Does anyone in this audience think that the president is really trying to keep us out of war?" he asked a flag-waving crowd in a Bronx high school auditorium.

"No," came a shout from many of his listeners.

"Are there any international understandings about American entrance into the war that our citizens do not know about?" Willkie continued.

"After all, I represent in this campaign millions and millions of voters, and I think I have a right to ask Franklin D. Roosevelt about American participation in the involvements of Europe or Asia at this time."

Three hours later, addressing a midnight crowd near the 125th street railroad station in Manhattan, he said:

"If you elect me, this country won't go to war until the people say they want war."

Willkie's statement about appeasement was made in a radio interview with Oren Root, young New York attorney who organized Willkie-for President clubs in the pre-convention campaign.

Not Appease Dictators

"Under no circumstances would I appease the dictators," the nominee said in reply to a question. "The search for peace through appeasement has resulted in the destruction of the appeasers."

Contending that a "dagger in the back speech" does only harm, he expressed his belief "in the policy of the other Roosevelt, who said, 'speak softly but carry a big stick.'"

If he is elected, he added, his first job would to be to speed up defense production by revitalizing industry.

"We can best aid Great Britain and at the same time serve our own interests by producing promptly and in large enough quantities supplies which we both need," he said.

"We are being edged toward war by an administration which is careless in speech and action. We cannot aid Great Britain by going to war right away."

The United States is so unprepared, the candidate asserted, that should it go to war now, all available supplies would have to be kept here.

Touches Variety of Topics

Willkie's comments on defense and foreign policy were intertwined with a variety of other topics in his series of talks, which included one to a loudly cheering Negro audience in Harlem.

His first speech, in the Bronx, contained criticism of Edward J. Flynn, Democratic National chairman, who lives there. He declared that the Democratic convention in Chicago was controlled "by three of the most vicious political bosses of America, among whom is a resident of this city."

Asking his audience a series of questions about New Deal actions, Willkie said:

"I know it is a very serious charge to make, but I want to make it very clearly, very definitely and very briefly—that this administration does not tell us the truth x x x

"Any administration that is not telling the truth is not qualified to lead a nation in time or crisis or otherwise."

He demanded that Mr. Roosevelt make public his views on a fourth term, a proposal which brought long applause, whistles and cheers.

In a speech on New York's upper west side, Willkie assailed "prejudice and bigotry." "If you accept them," he said "you are raising an instrumentality that eventually will come back and destroy you."

In his Harlem talk, delivered in a ballroom, Willkie pledged equal treatment for all races in event of his election. On the way to the hall his auto caravan was booed by groups of Negroes, but during his speech he received frequent applause.

The nominee's party rode overnight by special train to Stamford, Conn., to begin there an all-day auto trip up and down western Connecticut.

Lure To United States To Keep Out Of The War

she might also get Australia and New Zealand, while British Honduras would go to Guatemala, British Guiana to Brazil and the Falkland Islands to Argentina.

"New heavy blows are imminent which will aggravate the already desperate situation of the British empire and further reduce its power of resistance," Appelius asserted.

"Without North American Aid, England already would have collapsed."

The commentator said Japan's alliance with Germany and Italy had "aggravated London's tragic situation," and he declared:

"Other situations which have ripened recently or which are ripening in Europe, Africa and Asia are accentuating its collapse. The axis and Japan can count on the intervention of new French forces."

Appelius said North American intervention offered the "only means by which England can prolong its resistance."

New Plan of Action

ROME Oct 9—(AP)—The new plan of military action drafted by Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini at Brenner Pass last Friday was believed today in some quarters ready for execution as Il Duce inspected troops of the eleventh army corps encamped near Gorizia, within 20 miles of the Yugoslav frontier.

Tomorrow he will review 20,000 young Fascist volunteers at Padua. The ceremony will be broadcast on an international network at 11:25 a. m. (3:25 a. m. CST) and there have been indications that Il Duce might seize this occasion to make a speech indicating some of the decisions reached at last week's conference with Hitler.

Some observers suggested that the Hitler-Mussolini plan of action might turn to the Near East—specifically to control of the Strait of Dardanelles, through which oil tankers pass from the Black Sea ports.

Turkey and Greece are both friendly with Britain and it was suggested that the axis powers might find provocation in that quarter.

With the Dardanelles under axis domination, tankers from Rumania's fields could be sent into the Mediterranean with supplies for German and Italian planes.

Any action by the axis powers in that direction would satisfy two equally desirable aims—assure oil supplies for the German-Italian war machine while cutting off these supplies from Britain.

The consensus of Rome's foreign colony was that Yugoslavia would be safe from invasion. This belief, however, is based on the assumption that Yugoslavia will continue to conform to the axis program and will remain a source of food supplies.

planes turned their machine guns on buses, trains and pedestrians, killing three persons, before anti-aircraft fire dropped one in a park with a great explosion of its bomb load and the other into the sea.

The air ministry's night communique, however, reported only one German plane shot down in the day's battles, presumably not yet including those on the south coast. It said one British plane was lost but the pilot was safe.

The communique said the German raiders had damaged a "number" of buildings in London and caused some casualties in the daylight raids.

The bombed hospital was described as possibly the hardest-hit building in London where the raiding up to midnight was reported to be the most severe the city has undergone.

Three wings, two housing men patients and one housing women, were crumbled. Most of the patients were 80 years old or over—almost all of them permanent invalid cases.

Dig For Victims

As rescue crews dug for victims in the debris it was feared that not a single patient escaped either death or injury. How many were dead could not be determined because many had not been accounted for long after dawn.

The first daylight alarm was sounded some time after sounds of distant firing, apparently high above the clouds, were heard in London.

Raiders also were reported over the east coast. One town was dive bombed and machine gunned.

In early afternoon eight German planes were seen over the Thames estuary, apparently headed for London. They were met by heavy anti-aircraft fire and turned back when British fighter planes rose to challenge them.

Bombs On Bremen

LONDON, Oct. 9—(AP)—Tons of high explosives and hundreds of incendiary bombs were dropped last night on the vital German seaport of Bremen the air ministry reported today.

RAF heavy bombers the ministry said ranged over Bremen and the naval base at Wilhelmshaven, as well as inland German cities and towns and the already badly battered channel "invasion bases."

The attack on Bremen alone lasted more than half an hour, the ministry declared. Time and time again the British unloaded showers of bombs. The air was filled with debris from explosions and fires broke out in the area.

Oil refineries at Gelsenkirchen, in the industrial Ruhr valley, the Krupp munition plant at Essen, a metal works at Hanau, a Kiel power station and the Fokker aircraft factory at Amsterdam were raided.

One pilot who took part in the Bremen attack said he saw flames roaring skyward from a building which shortly exploded, tossing broken timbers and pieces of steel high in the air.

Long after he and the others had started for home, he said, they could see new fires break out.

The air ministry said the raid on Wilhelmshaven was "equally punishing" in spite of intense anti-aircraft fire. More than fifteen tons of bombs were dumped on the naval base, it said.

One pilot reported to the ministry that an unidentified plane showing dim navigation lights followed him as he was flying about 10,000 feet above the Frisian islands off the Dutch coast. Another plane joined his pursuer and both closed in on him. He dived to 8,000 feet, swiftly changed course and eluded them.

Freight yards at Mannheim and Grenberg and several German airdromes, as well as the channel ports were raided, the ministry said. All the British planes returned safely.

Attack On Convoy

BERLIN, Oct. 9—Dive bombing hits on a convoy of troop transports, apparently carrying thousands of men from somewhere in the British empire to the defense of Britain, were reported today by the German high command along with a fresh disclosure of surface raiding "in overseas waters."

The daily communique said that a fighting plane attacked "a strongly armed convoy with five large, fully-occupied troop transports, in a daringly deep dive and made several hits on a ship of about 20,000 tons." The position of the convoy was given as northwest of Ireland and about 125 miles from the Scottish coast.

(This would be on a route travelled by Canadian troops.)

The bomb hits were said to have caused the transport to stop and "lay motionless."

The high command added another scant paragraph to the little known story of German surface raiders with the statement that "an auxiliary cruiser reports sinking 52,000 tons of enemy merchant shipping in overseas waters as a result of its merchant war activities up to the present time."

(Recent reports indicate that German surface raiding, in the World war tradition of the cruiser Emden, has reached into both the Indian ocean and close to South America, in the South Atlantic.)

Down Two Nazi Planes

A SOUTH COAST TOWN, England, Oct. 9—(AP)—Two out of three German planes which raided this town today were shot down after a series of low-flying attacks in which residents said they machine-gunned the streets and killed at least three persons.

One plane, hit by an anti-aircraft fire, fell in a park with bombs still aboard and the explosion blew the plane to bits, killed its crew and damaged a chapel and several residences.

our educational, religious and sociological institutions there."

Urge Response To God's Call

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Presiding Bishop Henry St. George Tucker of Richmond, Va., urged Episcopalians today to "respond to God's call" for service to war's victims, stressing particularly the need for aid in missionary work sponsored by churches of belligerent nations.

He asserted feelingly:

"'America first' seems plausible, but it is not a sound principle in Christian work. The only way to make American Christian is to make it interested in the welfare of the world that lies outside its borders."

In a thinly veiled reference to totalitarian nations the head of a church of 1¾ million communicants, continued:

"The great menace to world welfare today is that aggressive nationalism which leads a country to exploit all the rest of the world to its own benefit.

"Christian love knows no boundaries. It transcends differences of race. The spirit that prompts us to do foreign missionary work is the only hope of world-wide peace."

But overshadowing all convention problems were those to face because of wars in Europe and on the continent.

Negroes Be On 'Equitable Basis'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9—(AP)—President Roosevelt ordered the war department today to put into effect immediately a ploicy providing that the services of Negroes will be utilized on "a fair and equitable basis" in the national defense program.

A statement, however, said "the policy of the war department is not to intermingle colored and white enlisted personnel in the same regimental organizations."

Some Slip For The Stock Market

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The market slipped a bit today but, after fractional declines, held fast around a rallying point of steels and motors.

Uneasiness over the mounting tension with Japan contributed to traders' caution. Only about 450,000 shares changed hands.

The session opened with a nervous downturn which thinned and finally faded when such leaders as U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber and New York Central failed to follow the general trend.

A Big Celebration In Cincinnati In Victory Of Reds

Most Delirious Night Since The 1918 Armistice

By GAYLE TALBOT

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Headachy but happy after a night of spectacular celebration, Cincinnati's baseball fans came to slowly today, pinched themselves a few times, and finally awakened to the realization it was true—the Reds had won that old championship.

Yessir, those good old Reds had done it. Whee! Old Paul Derringer, the people's choice, had licked Detroit's Buck Newsom, 2 to 1, in the seventh and deciding game, as tense and thrilling a battle as ever climaxed a world series.

Streets of the town still were littered with the paper and rubbish that showered down from ten thousand windows an instant after Earl Averill, a pinch-hitter, slapped a ball at Lonnie Frey and was snapped off at first for the final out of the long-drawn playoff yesterday afternoon on Crosley Field.

Those who witnessed both said it was the most delirious night Cincinnati had experienced since the armistice was signed in 1918. The blow-off was all the greater after the terrible disappointment of a year ago, when the Reds clowned to their fourth straight defeat at the hands of the New York Yankees.

Problem To Name Hero

Today the proud celebrants had only one big problem on their minds—to name the hero of the series. And it was a real problem, at that.

Derringer? The big pitcher who produced one of his greatest masterpieces; didn't permit an earned run to one of baseball's finest array of sluggers in the clinching truggle?

Bucky Walters? The stout hurler who twice in the series stopped the Tigers with three-hit and five-hit performances when the Reds were trailing by a game and appeared to be on the verge of defeat?

Bill Werber? The scrapping third-baseman who led both clubs in hitting for the seven games with an average of .370 and whose fielding was spectacular?

Or little Billy Myers, the shortstop, who clouted the long fly off Newsom in the seventh inning to score Jimmy Ripple from third with the Reds' second and winning run? Billy didn't do much before that, but in the view of Cincinnati fans he could have made up for a lifetime of lapses with that one vital blow.

Great Day For Wilson

From a romantic standpoint, the grandest figure on the field for six of the seven games was Jimmy Wilson, the 40 year old coach who pulled his ancient catcher's mit off the bottom of his locker and filled the big shoes of crippled Ernie Lombardi behind the plate for the Reds.

He was a trouper! We has strapped up with 40-odd yards of adhesive tape yesterday for what he said, vehemently, was the last game he ever expected to play. He was limping. But Jimmy hit two singles, laid down a perfect sacrifice in the Reds' winning inning, and stole the only base of the entire seven games.

Heroic in defeat was Buck Newson; big, blustering Bobo; who pitched the Tigers to two stirring victories, blanking the Reds over one stretch of 16 consecutive innings, but on whom the terrific pace finally told at the very climax of the series.

After Bobo won his second game on Sunday, his arm was so sore he scarcely could lift it, and a masseur worked on it far into the night. He told Bobo he shouldn't try to pitch again for a long time. But out there yesterday was Bobo, firing them across with only one day's rest.

This was the first world series won by a National League club since the St. Louis Cards beat the Tigers in 1934.

Sedalia Chapter No. 18, R. A. M., will meet in stated convocation Thursday evening, October 10, at 7:30 o'clock. All Royal Arch Masons are invited to attend.

St. Peters' Hi Vs. S-C Tigers Here Friday

'Dad's' Night Friday When Players Will Be Host To Fathers

It will be "Dad's Night" at the football game Friday night for the Smith-Cotton Tigers when they play the ever-so-strong St. Peters' high school of Jefferson City here. Each football player, who has a father present will play host to him and "Dad" will set out on the benches opposite their sons.

So the fathers can be identified as to whose "papa" he is, a number will be pinned on his back. The same numeral that appears on the son's football sweater will appear on "Dad's" back.

This week has been a busy week for the Tigers who have been working hard on breaking up passes and practicing on line defense. No hard scrimmaging has been experienced because the gridiron at the high school is dry and hard.

Today, however, the four teams were run through a rather stiff scrimmage but in such a manner that the boys were carefully handled to prevent injuries, which would take them out of Friday night's game.

Coach Benson has figured up the St. Peters' team as being an exceptionally strong one this year. A few figures will bear out his belief. Early in the fall the St. Louis U. high school defeated St. Peters 18 to 6, and then the St. Louis U. team comes back the next week and defeats the Roosevelt high school of St. Louis by the same score. The Roosevelt team is considered one of the strongest in the state. Last week end the St. Peters' team won their Sunday afternoon game by a score of 13 to 0.

An example of the line disparity in weight is the two tackles of St. Peters weighing 198 and 201, respectively, while the Sedalia tackles hardly tip the scales at more than 135. But the Smith-Cotton Tigers can brag they have two tough and fighting little tackles second to none in the state.

St. Peters has a new coach who uses the Notre Dame system, it is said. And this week Benson has been working his team on defense against that style of football.

Gehringer May Quit The Tigers

DETROIT, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The concluding game of the 1940 world series at Cincinnati yesterday may have also been the final major league appearance of Charles Leonard Gehringer, Detroit Tiger second baseman, who has been one of the game's greatest infielders for almost two decades.

Gehringer disclosed to a newspaper man friend before the game in Cincinnati that he would probably retire unless he was cured of a back ailment suffered while shoveling snow from the sidewalk in front of his Detroit home last February.

Durocher Again To Guide Dodgers

NEW YORK, Oct. 9—(AP)—Leo Durocher will manage the Brooklyn Dodgers again next year.

Larry MacPhail, president of the club, announced today that the fiery little infielder signed his 1941 contract during the World Series and that it had been approved by the club's board or directors. Salary terms were not disclosed.

The announcement ended the rumors that Leo would not be back next season since MacPhail had indicated he preferred a playing manager and Durocher played in only 62 games this year.

YESTERDAY: Sue Mary returns to the office, finds Vera and young Clark. Vera telephones Nick, tells him the plot has worked, that they'll get the papers to frame Clark tomorrow. Joe is hurt in a fight at the factory. He is unconscious. Sue Mary is terrified by the sudden sweep of events.

VERA LOSES A GLOVE

CHAPTER XXII

IT was impossible, there in the routine work-a-day office, to forget the terror of the night before. Sue Mary mechanically typed and filed and took dictation. She listened to Babs Fleming burst forth in confidential, whispered details of her trousseau shopping and tried desperately to force an answering smile and a faint show of interested enthusiasm in Babs' wedding plans.

"Gosh, Sue Mary, I'm so excited. Only a month—but it seems ages to wait. Jim's so sweet. He's so interested in everything we're getting for the house. He was over last night and we got everything out and looked it over again: for the umpteenth time, I guess.

"Sometimes I think it will be worn out before we really get settled. I mean things like linens and china and silver. Gosh—I'm so in love."

Her blue eyes were dreamy and she went off into one of her periodic day dreams, while Sue Mary felt fear convulse her own heart. She should be able to dream such dreams herself instead of sitting here now with icy terror gripping her.

She had already called the hospital three times and each call had brought her no new information. Joe was still in a coma. There was still little encouragement to give, except that he was holding his own and doing as well as could be expected.

She closed her eyes and tried to remember how it had felt to be in his arms, with his lips close to hers; how she had put herself to sleep nights planning on what their home would be like.

She looked up and saw Kitty typing with flying fingers and casting sidelong bitter glances at Vera, cool and tailored today in a white pique sports dress. Vera was more self-possessed than usual this morning. She worked quietly and efficiently with no wasted motion.

Vera had her own course clearly outlined and she gave no hint of what she planned to do in the evening.

Sue Mary wondered if she felt any fear, sensed any possible danger. But then she, too, was in love. Natalie had pointed that out. She was in love with Nick and so blinded by that love that to do what he asked was all that mattered.

KITTY walked over to Vera's desk. Sue Mary saw her toss something on it and then heard her say, "You must have lost this when you were here last night."

Vera turned, but Sue Mary couldn't see her face. "Mine?" she said in a low voice with that husky note. "What are you talking about?"

"Don't give me that business," Kitty said sharply. "You know what I mean. You should know better than to leave telltale evidence."

Sue Mary swung around in her chair and looked at the girls. Vera was holding a white lace glove in her hands. And her face was a study of absorbtion.

"You're being melodramatic," she said, evenly.

"No, you are. I know what I'm talking about. I know what you're up to. You've been trying to hook Ross Clark from the first moment you set eyes on him. And you've played this high-and-mighty lady act, too. Last night you were here with him. In his father's office. You think you're pretty clever. But you aren't. You're not half clever enough."

Vera laughed. "Well, I made the grade and you didn't. Why not confess that's really what bothers you? You tried, but Ross Clark couldn't even see you. And certainly I don't have to make excuses to you for my presence here last night with him. This is his office as well as his father's."

"Only I have my doubts if he knew where he was or whom he was with," Kitty answered furiously. "Just what are you trying to do?"

"My dear, you simply wouldn't understand," Vera told her quietly. "And I haven't the time or the inclination to draw any diagrams for you. If you must know, however, Ross dropped in here for some papers on our way to dinner."

SUE MARY wondered later just what might have happened at that point if Miss Grant hadn't come into the office.

"It's a good thing you went out to take that stuff from Mr. Clark last night," she told Sue Mary. "He's collapsed again. Under doctor's care.

"I wonder how long this terrible business is going on: war, hysteria, rush production, nerves cracking." She looked tired and, for the first time, lacking in poise. Even her career-woman front seemed to have cracked, revealing the helpless feminine underneath.

It was a few moments before the clear import of her statement hit Sue Mary. All through those long hours when she had tossed in her bed last night, and while she had subconsciously gone on with her work during the morning, she had tried to consider what steps to take about Vera and her plans to get the papers young Ross Clark had on the airport site deal.

And in the back of her mind, she knew now, was the final hope that she could go to old Ross Clark and tell him what she knew. He was a business executive, competent, capable to face any emergency, but for all that, human and kind. Somehow she had felt he could handle the situation—a situation which now more than ever before left her baffled and helpless.

But now he was ill, inaccessible, incapable of advising her or of preventing what would surely happen. It wasn't his son that mattered, she told herself over and over, staring unseeingly at the papers before her on the desk. It was the fact that he would be the weapon that Nick and the YP could hold over Governor Miller, bring about his defeat for re-election and the success of a man whose policies would be so opposed to all that was American.

SHE knew the whole burden now rested on herself. She felt so incompetent, so young, so unsure. To go to anyone in the office itself would mean the truth would inevitably leak out, and she couldn't bear to think of hurting old Ross Clark by showing his son up before the whole city.

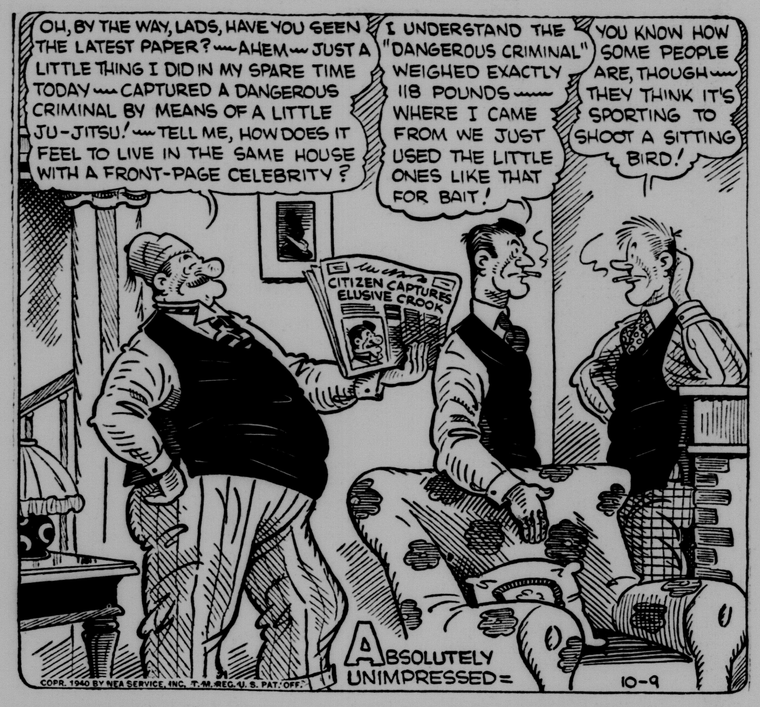

And, she wondered frantically, wouldn't the thing sound preposterous, impossible in the telling, anyhow. Who would believe her? The story sounded like a movie plot.

What if she were wrong? Or what if Nick and Vera were smart enough to prepare for just such an emergency?

Surely they must have anticipated the possibility of being discovered. In that case, Sue Mary, after warning of the plot, would be left looking like an hysterical, jealous, stupid fool.

Emotional State At Meal Time Often Responsible for Food Phobias

This is one of a series of special articles revealing typical cases of nervous and mental disorders and their treatment through thought control as carried out by the author and his associates at the Boston Dispensary, famous charitable health clinic.

By Winifred Rhoades

Although she is a large framed woman, Mrs. G had dropped to only 109 pounds in weight, and was eating so little that she was barely keeping herself alive. If she drank milk she developed an itching rash on her arms. If she ate wheat cereal she developed temperature, chills and sneezing.

Mrs. G. ate so little she was barely keeping herself alive.

She had cultivated such a habit of food rejection that she was eating each day only a bit of grapefruit, a bit of oatmeal and two spoonfuls of peas.

She had consulted many doctors and been given many diets without relief. At one time she had been given injections of iron and strychnine to keep her alive. From childhood she had been sickly and "practically always in pain." She had had operations, and had worked up many symptoms of many kinds. In her long search for health she has disposed of all her property, one thing after another, until she finally had only 66 cents to her name.

When she came to the hospital she was told that her physical symptoms were not due to foods she ate but to the emotional state in which she received them. She believed what she was told. In one single day she learned to drink milk.

"Milk is delicious," she would say in her mind. A few days after entering the hospital she ate "a tremendous Christmas dinner — meat, vegetables, mince pie, and so forth." She gained the power of eating without bad physical reactions by teaching herself to think of foods as needed, as desirable and as tasting good.

"Now when I pass a food shop and see something in the window I say to myself, 'That looks good'; and then I go in and buy some." she said in a talk somewhat later. She overcame her habit of food rejection by trusting the word of the hospital chief when he told her that the body is made for food and can take care of it properly if the mind does not interfere.

"There is not anything left that I haven't sampled, or that I have any fear of," said Mrs. G one day. "I eat everything. If I doubt any food I instantly eat it. The only way I can do is to grab hold of the thing that is troubling me and tackle it. It will get me if I don't. We want courage."

Mrs. G is now working, and working hard in a difficult place. She has restored her weight to normal. It was not easy to overcome the mental and emotional and physical habits of years, but she took hold of herself resolutely, persisted in her effort, and as a result has begun a new career for herself.

When Mrs. G recovered the determination that she had lost, or rather developed a grit that she had never really had before, she made herself able to face life with all its difficulties and its unceasing challenge, and to do so with a new health physically. She lost her food phobias and gained the mastery over her other symptoms when she developed a new habit of mind. But she had to acquire the will to be well and the will to struggle.

Saffron

Saffron is made from the stigma of a flower known as crocus sativa. As each flower yields only three stigmas it requires almost 75,0000 blossoms to make a pound of safron. For this reason saffron is the most expensive of all spices, selling for as high as $45.00 a lb. wholesale.

Cautious Trading On Grain Market

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The wheat market was steady today, with trading restricted by cautious dealings in view of uncertainty of international affairs in Europe and the Orient. Commercial and professional transactions were governed almost entirely by the domestic supply situation.

Illustrative of the effect of the government loan program in reducing commercial supplies, a car of No. 4 weevily wheat sold for 86 cents a bushel here. This price was about 4 cents over the December future delivery and 5 cents over the government loan rate for No. 2 red or hard wheat here. Traders estimated more than a fourth of the domestic supply eventually will be tied up either under loans or held off the market under provisions of the insurance program.

Wheat closed unchanged to ⅜ cent higher compared with yesterday's finish, Dec. 82¼c to 82⅜c, May 81⅜c to 81¼c; corn ⅛ cent off to ¼ cent up, Dec. 58⅜c to 58½c, May 59¼c; oats ¼ to ½ cent lower.

Claims Right To Give Assistance

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 9—(AP)—C. M Hulen, democratic state chairman, declared today "the Missouri farmer has as much right to participate in election campaigns as the St. Louis capitalists who are now financing the Republican state campaign with record profits earned under democratic rule."

Hulen's statement followed a charge by Republican chairman Charles Ferguson that the New Deal is putting a campaign "lug" on Missouri farmers who receive AAA benefits.

Hulen said "the democratic state committee of Missouri has no connection in any manner with the Missouri division of the National Committee for Agriculture.

"It does stand ready and willing however, to lend that or any like organization what assistance it may to the end that beneficial policies and programs inaugurated by the democratic party shall be continued in these United States."

"Since when has it been wrong in Missouri or in any state for the farmer to organize and participate in a campaign to protect his own interests?" Hulen asked. "How about the tremendous slush fund that the power trust and the barons of wealth and privilege are spending to elect . . . Wendell Willkie?"
